

DE NOVO MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS

An insured depository institution applying for membership with the Federal Home Loan Bank of New York (FHLBNY) whose date of regulatory charter approval is within three years prior to the date that the application is submitted will be designated as a de novo applicant. A de novo applicant will be presumed to have met the 'duly organized,' 'subject to inspection and regulation,' 'financial condition' and 'character of management' requirements for FHLBNY membership. In addition, all three of the following requirements will need to be satisfied as described in detail below.

1. Makes Long-Term Home Mortgage Loans

To satisfy the 'makes long-term home mortgage loans' requirement, a de novo applicant must file, as part of its membership application, a written justification acceptable to the FHLBNY of how its home financing credit policy and lending practices will include either the origination or purchase of long-term home mortgage loans.¹

2. 10% of Total Assets in Residential Mortgage Loans

An FDIC insured de novo applicant, whose average total assets for the last 12 quarters are less than the Community Financial Institution (CFI) asset cap², would be considered a CFI eligible institution and therefore exempt from the '10% of total assets in residential mortgage loans'³ requirement.

However, an FDIC insured de novo applicant that commenced business operations less than one year before applying for membership, and which is not a CFI eligible institution, will be subject to the '10%' requirement. If such applicant fails to meet this requirement, it can still be granted conditional approval for membership. However, the applicant must meet the "10%" requirement within one year after commencing its initial business operations for the conditional approval to become final. If the requirement is not met, the conditional membership approval will be rescinded and deemed void. (Meeting the requirement means that the conditional membership approval will become final.)

Similarly, a non-FDIC insured de novo applicant (e.g., a credit union) will always be subject to the '10%' requirement (as there are no opportunities for exemption). If such applicant commenced business operations less than one year before applying for membership, but fails to meet the requirement, the applicant can still be granted conditional approval for membership. However, the applicant must meet the "10%" requirement within one year after commencing its initial business operations for the conditional approval to become final. If the requirement is not met, the conditional membership approval will be rescinded and deemed void. (Meeting the requirement means that the conditional membership approval will become final.)

3. Home Financing Policy

If an insured depository de novo applicant subject to the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) has not received its first performance evaluation with a rating of satisfactory or better (which would otherwise satisfy the 'housing financing policy' requirement), the applicant can still be conditionally approved for membership. To receive conditional approval, the applicant must file, as part of its application for membership, a written justification acceptable to the FHLBNY of how and why its home financing credit policy and lending practices will meet the credit needs of its community. In order for the conditional approval to become final, the FHLBNY must receive from the applicant evidence that it has a rating of "Satisfactory" or better on its first CRA performance evaluation. If the foregoing is not met, the conditional membership approval will, if not otherwise rebutted, be rescinded and deemed void. (Meeting the requirement means that the conditional membership approval will become final.)

A de novo applicant that is not subject to the CRA will be deemed in compliance with the home financing policy requirement if it files, as part of its application for membership, a written justification acceptable to the FHLBNY of how and why the applicant's home financing policy is consistent with the Bank System's housing finance mission.

Any insured depository de novo applicant that has been conditionally approved for membership as described above will be subject to all regulations applicable to members. If a requirement is not met and conditional membership approval is rescinded, the FHLBNY will liquidate any outstanding indebtedness owed by the institution and repurchase its capital stock.
